Here is

JOCK WEST

of

B.M.W. fame

—speaking at Victor Vacuum's lubrication party.

● Jock West is B.M.W. representative in this country and he certainly has succeeded in putting these splendid machines well on the map. Jock's not ashamed of being called a tough guy. And he needn't be. It takes a fairly tough man to ride as fine a race as he does—on road or track. Here is Jock—

Ladies and Gentlemen,

When I became B.M.W. representative in this country it seemed to me pretty clear that I ought to start practising what I was going to preach. And, believe me, I've never once regretted riding a B.M.W. I believe, too, that a spot of international competition is going to help keep the British motor-cycle manufacturers on their toes.

I run my B.M.W. on Mobiloil 'D.' It's the cleanest oil produced and the Clearosol process is an astonishing step forward in oil refining. In fact, judging by the wonderfully little dirt on your valves and pistons when you're running on Mobiloil 'D,' I should think the experts have just about produced the perfect lubricant this time. And by the way, in reply to the enquiry from Auchtermuchty, B.M.W. means Beautiful Mobiloil Within. Thank you.
